County schools looking for kindergarten space

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School District has taken yet another step toward implementation of kindergarten with plans to provide space at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlinton. Superintendent Terrell Randolph and several members of the Hancock County School Board visited the school Saturday morning to discuss kindergarten plans with Principal Phillip Terrell, who is serving as the district's kindergarten coordinator.

Terrell said the application for State Department of Education approval of the district's kindergarten plans is expected to be submitted well before the Feb. 27 deadline. Arrangements for housing kindergarten, a primary concern in the overcrowded district, are still in preliminary stages.

At Murphy, the library will be converted into a kindergarten classroom because space in an adjacent supply room is available for conversion into a restroom. Two physical education teachers will use classroom space presently vacant during other teachers' work periods to provide library space.

In new construction, the state mandates that kindergarten rooms contain restroom facilities. In existing buildings, kindergarten rooms must be located no further than 125 feet from a restroom.

There is an existing restroom within the specified distance from the room selected at Murphy, but Terrell said he favors converting the supply room because doing so would

Board to apply to state for Gulfview funding

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board has authorized its architect to apply for funding from the State Educational Finance Commission for a six-classroom addition to Gulfview Elementary School.

Architect Fred Wagner reported Wednesday that the district may be able to obtain up to $18 per square foot, which could cover about a third of the cost of the building.

Wagner said the plans and specifications on the building should be completed next week and the district can then advertise for bids.

Board Member Lennette Necaise voted against advertising the project, stating that she feels the classrooms should be constructed as kindergarten rooms to save the cost of converting existing rooms.

She is also opposed to the amount of the fee being charged by Wagner.

In other business, the board agreed with Wagner's recommendation that a $496,538 insurance settlement be accepted from Nationwide Insurance.

The settlement money is expected to cover the costs of repairing damages from Hurricane Elena, including damages at all three district schools and architect's fees. Wagner said he expects to report to the board soon on the most extensive repairs, a roof replacement at

Kindergarten pre-registration scheduled for Hancock schools

Kindergarten pre-registration for Hancock County School District will be conducted Thursday and Friday, Jan. 30-31 for the 1986-87 school year.

Pre-registration will be held from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the following locations: Charles B. Murphy Elementary, Pearlinton; Gulfview Elementary, Lakeshore; and Hancock North Central Elementary, Hwy. 603.

All kindergarten students must be five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1986.

Age must be verified by a certified birth certificate before registration can be completed. A Mississippi immunization slip will also be required before students are enrolled.

"The Hancock County School District is very excited about the new state public kindergarten program that is mandated by the 1982 Reform Act, and we hope that the parents of prospective kindergarten students will join us in our excitement," said Superintendent Terrell Randolph.

A few of the program goals are:

- 1) To help the child develop a positive self concept;
- 2) To help the child to achieve intellectual growth;
- 3) To help the child to increase communication skills and competence;
- 4) To help the child to increase skills in physical coordination; and
- 5) To help the child to increase competence in self-direction and independence.

Parents are encouraged to register the children early so the district can successfully plan the kindergarten program for the 1986-87 school year, Randolph added.

Boards to ask state approval for wastewater ordinance

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors have completed the first draft of an ordinance permitting the use of individual onsite wastewater disposal systems.

According to Lucien Gex, attorney for the wastewater district, the ordinance will be submitted to the Mississippi Bureau of Pollution Control and the State Board of Health before it receives final approval by the two boards.

The ordinance is designed to provide the district with a means for permitting individual onsite wastewater disposal systems in areas where central sewerage does not yet exist.

The two boards have been working on the ordinance since it was proposed in November by representatives of the State Board of Health and Bureau of Pollution Control.

Allowing the district to permit the individual systems was the two agencies' response to complaints from a group of realtors who contended that they could no longer obtain federal financing for property sales.

A sanitation permit must be obtained for federal financing and the realtors complained that permits could no longer be obtained for septic tanks.

The individual onsite wastewater disposal systems the district will permit through the ordinance are known as alternative systems, and are capable of rendering water about 97 percent pure if properly installed and used.

Wastewater District Administrator Ethel Schott said the systems will remove most solids from wastewater and will reduce the amount of bacteria that increases oxygen demand, but most must be equipped with a chlorinator to kill disease-carrying bacteria.

The ordinance, in its present form, will make use of an approved system mandatory in unsewered parts of the county below Interstate-10 and optional north of I-10.

Systems will be required on all new construction of single homes, but some board members felt they should not be required in large blocks of homes being constructed strictly as a commercial development.

In those developments, the systems would probably have to be installed as the homes are sold and

Clements services held

Funeral Mass was celebrated Saturday morning at St. Clare Catholic Church for Mrs. Claire Bourgeois Clements, 70, 35-year-veteran tax clerk and tax collector for the City of Waveland.

Mrs. Clements, a resident of Waveland and native of New Orleans, La., died Thursday, Jan. 9, 1986 in Gulfport.

Burial was in Waveland Cemetery, Riemann Funeral Home of Bay St. Louis was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Clements was a lifelong resident of Hancock County.

She was instrumental in organizing Nereids Women's Carnival Club and was its first captain. She was an officer of the krewe at the time of her death.

She was elected to the National Democratic Executive Committee and was serving in this capacity at the time of her death.

She was a charter member of Our Lady Sodality and American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 77 of Waveland.

federal financing is obtained.

The ordinance also includes provisions to require those violating existing wastewater regulations to install systems.

The wastewater district will be in charge of enforcing the ordinance and will add an inspector to its staff for that purpose.

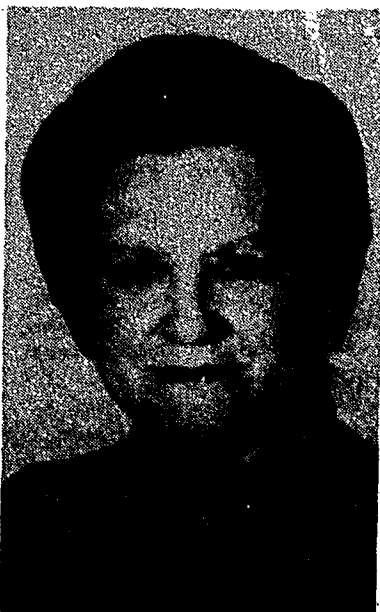

As various parts of the county become more populated and sewerage becomes more economically feasible, the systems will be replaced because the district will require that residents of those areas hook up to central sewerage

Past commander photos sought

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Photos of past commanders of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis are being sought by D.W. North, post historian.

North said, "Our post had the photographs of just about every past commander, but they were all lost during Hurricane Camille."

"We are now in the process of placing the photos at the post's home on Green Meadow Road and are missing the photos of six past commanders," North said.

The post's old home was located on Beach Boulevard at Washington Street in Bay St. Louis.

North has been working several months trying to locate relatives who may have photos of the past commanders who are deceased.

Photos missing include the post's first commander, Curtis Waller, 1923; Wilson E. Acker, 1923; Leon McClure, 1924; A. Palmer Lott, 1927; S.L. Engman, 1936; and J.W. Peairs, 1940.

Even a snapshot will do, North said, as he could have it blown up into an 8 by 10 size, and would return the photo.

North can be reached at 467-5770 after 4:30 p.m.

Chalmette man hospitalized following 603 collision

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Chalmette, La., man remained hospitalized Saturday after suffering multiple injuries in a Thursday night collision on Highway 603.

A spokesperson for Oschner's Foundation Hospital in New Orleans said Anthony J. Botsay, 24, is still in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Botsay was injured when his vehicle collided at about 11:15 p.m. Thursday with a vehicle driven by Robert L. Standford, 39, of Route Six, Bay St. Louis, according to a spokesperson for the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

The accident occurred about three miles north of Waveland near the Kiln-Waveland Cut-off road.

Standford received minor injuries in the crash. He was charged with failure to yield and driving under the influence of alcohol.

State Trooper David Kenny investigated the accident.

A coroner's inquest is expected to be scheduled this week in the death of Elaine Pritchard of Pass Christian.

Mrs. Pritchard, 38, died Friday, Jan. 3, at her residence. She was a CPA and vice president of Louisiana Energy and Development Company. Harrison County Coroner Steve Delahousey said the death was apparently suicide by a single gunshot wound to the head, but the inquest has been delayed while he awaits autopsy results.

He said the death will remain under investigation by his office and the Harrison County Sheriff's Department until the inquest is completed.

Worth appointed postmaster at Pass Christian

Gerald A. Worth is the new postmaster at Pass Christian, sectional center manager/postmaster N. L. Dilley of Gulfport announced.

Worth, 55, is a native of Seaside Park, N. J., and has served as postmaster at Wiggins for the past eight years.

Postmaster selections are made on the basis of merit from a list of qualified candidates submitted to the sectional center manager by a review committee.

The review committee, composed of a district director from the same district, a sectional center director or postmaster from the same sectional center and a sectional center manager or postmaster from a different district, review the applicants for the position and recommend to the sectional center manager those candidates who best meet the position requirements.

The sectional center manager then selects and recommends to the Postmaster General the person best qualified to fill the vacancy.

Worth is married to Edwina Worth and they have two sons, Gerald Jr. and Patrick Edward.

Everything you want to know about funerals.

Mike Riemann, Vice-Pres.

Making funeral arrangements in advance of need is not an unusual thing to do. In fact, it's the simplest way of caring for your family, for it helps remove the burden of making decisions at a most difficult time. It makes the eventual tomorrow much easier for your family.

A funeral plan can protect you from costly inflation. Our funeral plan will guarantee the price of final expenses at today's cost, if prefinanced.

We guarantee that the price of your final expenses will never increase no matter how long you live. Your costs remain the same...it is an excellent hedge against inflation. We have either a cash payment plan or a monthly installment plan available.

Information regarding these funeral plans, along with valuable information contained in our "Family Emergency Record Guide," is available to you at no obligation. Our free "Family Emergency Record Guide," will help you record all of the important items of information and outline any personal wishes or requests you might have.

North Mississippi chop shops busted

A giant bite was taken out of automobile theft Wednesday when authorities simultaneously converged on suspects in two states wanted on state and federal warrants stemming from vehicle theft.

Coordinated but unrelated arrests were begun just after dawn in Booneville, Baldwyn, Rienzi, Tupelo, Oxford, Corinth and other Mississippi towns, and in parts of Tennessee.

In Mississippi the arrests centered around residents in the northeastern part of the state where auto theft rings and chop shops are reported to be big business.

State and federal authorities say the arrests will result in the recovery of at least 220 stolen vehicles valued at close to $3 million and parts valued at up to $100,000.

In Mississippi the arrests are the result of a cooperative effort between the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Roger Castonguay, special agent in charge of the FBI in Mississippi, said a command post at the Alcorn County Sheriff's Office will remain open until completion of the operation which has the code name of "Silverado."

The success of this case has special meaning to Commissioner of Public Safety James L. Roberts Jr., a former prosecuting attorney from Pontotoc County in northeast Mississippi.

"As a prosecuting attorney for 12 years, I observed the prosperity of those involved in the commercial end of the automobile theft business," Roberts said.

"I came to the Department of Public Safety acutely aware of the problems associated with the felony crime of automobile theft."

"For years commercial auto theft activities have been big business and these arrests will at least expose the magnitude of the problem we are facing," the commissioner said.

As a deterrent to auto theft in Mississippi, the Department of Public Safety is seeking legislative enactment of a measure that will make it a felony to alter, counterfeit, deface, destroy, disguise, falsify, forge, obliterate or remove any identification numbers or marks from any motor vehicle, serialized part, or from any farm implement or to assist in doing so.

The bill provides that persons who buy or sell a vehicle with the knowledge that its serial numbers have been changed or altered will be charged with a felony.

Conviction of these offenses if the bill passes will include imprisonment in the State Penitentiary for up to five years, or imprisonment in a county jail for up to six months, or by a fine of not more than $1,000 or both.

Eighteen Mississippi Highway Patrol investigators have been assigned to assist FBI agents, deputy U.S. marshals and officers of the Corinth Police Department in operation Silverado.

Participation by state and federal officers is needed since the arrests extend beyond county and state boundaries and multi-jurisdiction is required.

Major Walter Tucker, chief investigator of the Highway Patrol's Criminal Investigation Bureau, said even though more vehicle thefts occur in the larger cities, northeast Mississippi is a haven for "chop shops."

He defined chop shops as facilities where stolen automobiles are disassembled or dismantled and the parts switched or sold.

"A common practice for a thief is to switch vehicle identification number (VIN) plates of stolen automobiles and sell the automobiles for profit," Tucker said.

"With these arrests we hope to get the attention of practicing and would-be automobile thieves in this state," he said.

It is anticipated that there will be additional indictments against area residents in the coming months.

The FBI has received similar cooperation from law enforcement agencies in Tennessee.

Energy And Transportation Board meets at NSTL

The National Space Technology Laboratories was the location Wednesday of the Mississippi Energy and Transportation Board's regular monthly meeting.

The board met at NSTL so its members could familiarize themselves with the missions of NASA and NSTL's resident federal and state agencies.

Key NSTL officials briefed the visitors who were also given a tour of the installation, including the Space Shuttle Test Complex.

The Department of Energy and Transportation, in cooperation with the Governor's Office and the Mississippi Research and Development Center, is initiating a program aimed at technology transfer for the state.

The efforts of the new program will be focused through the new Mississippi Technology Transfer Office which will be located at NSTL later this month.

The technology transfer office will operate under the auspices of the state R & D Center in Jackson.

Resolutions for better health

(Presented as a public service by the Mississippi State Medical Association and this newspaper.)

The New Year is approaching. Many of us, caught up in the enthusiasm of the season, have made New Year's resolutions. Experience has taught some of us that only realistic resolutions are likely to be kept. Unrealistic resolutions either will be quickly forgotten or will become a source of frustration as we strive to achieve overly-ambitious goals.

The Mississippi State Medical Association reminds that although medical science has made great progress in recent decades, the state's physicians are concerned about the health problems that remain, many of which are preventable.

With setting unrealistic goals, there is much you can do to ensure that you and your family have the opportunity to enjoy a healthier new year. You can resolve to:

—Use seat belts and make sure your family members do. Automobile accidents claim some 50,000 lives each year, and injuries number in the millions. Most deaths and serious injuries can be prevented by the regular use of seat belts.

—Make sure your family members are immunized. Protection exists from the devastating effects of measles, rubella, polio, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough) and tetanus. Many people, however, remain unprotected from these diseases because of their failure to have the vaccinations.

—Become informed about proper nutrition and proper exercise. Total fitness not only improves personal appearance, but enhances physical health and mental and emotional well-being, too.

—Become aware of home safety hazards. Accidents in the home and poisonings from household chemicals are major problems, and most of these are preventable. Make sure your family members wear protective clothing whenever possible, whether riding a motorcycle, skateboarding or mowing the lawn.

—Learn to recognize symptoms of the diseases of alcoholism and mental illness. If you or someone you know is suffering, take advantage of the professional help that is available to treat these disorders.

—Become informed about such things as risk factors in heart disease, symptoms of diabetes, and cancer's warning signals. Early diagnosis is often the key to successful treatment.

—If you are taking prescribed medications, take them properly. The courses of many illnesses are influenced by regular and complete regimens of medication. Read labels. Remember to discuss with your physician any other medications you may be taking, whether prescribed or purchased over the counter.

—Make every effort to stop smoking or at least cut down. The hazards of smoking have been documented, and it makes sense to reduce your chances of contracting any of the illnesses that have been linked with smoking.

—For regular health care (and to reduce costs, too) have a family physician who knows your medical history. Don't be afraid to use the telephone to talk with the doctor about minor health problems. On the other hand, don't wait too long to see the physician when you are ill. Delaying treatment for an illness can cost more in the long run. Emergency care is more expensive.

The Beachfront Technical Advisory Council, (TAC), which met on Wednesday night, has decided to change the date of the Hancock County Clean Our Beach Day to February 22 due to so many conflicts on the original planned day.

John Scafide, TAC chairman, and I are scheduled to reappear before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to request the date change.

A lot of discussion was held at TAC's meeting on the matter, and with Mardi Gras parades and balls on during January in addition to the cold weather, it was the unanimous agreement of TAC members to request the new day.

We have been receiving very good support on the project and are hoping to have many people involved in the Clean Our Beach Day.

The later date will give TAC and other sponsors more time to organize a better program.

It wasn't too long ago when the City of Waveland had lights installed along US-90, and now more improved lighting will be placed on Beach Boulevard and Coleman Avenue.

So, Waveland continues to move forward in preparation for the 21st century.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre is looking for local talent, and will conduct auditions on Jan. 19 and 20.

The auditions will begin at 7 p.m. at the playhouse on Boardman Avenue for the play 'Crimes of the Heart'.

The play will be directed by Burt Barrett, a veteran director of the local theatre.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre members really enjoy themselves and the organization is always looking for more participants.

Mrs. Claire Bourgeois Clements

On Saturday, Mrs. Claire Bourgeois Clements went to her final resting place in the Waveland Cemetery.

Mrs. Claire, as she was called by most folks, was one of the best known female citizens of the City of Waveland, having served as a public servant for 35 years.

As a native of Waveland, we have known Mrs. Claire as long as we can remember, and were well aware of her dedication to her beloved city.

She was involved in the formation of the Krewe of Nereids. As a matter of fact, she was the first captain of the carnival organization, which put new life into Hancock County's Mardi Gras celebrations.

Active in St. Clare's Catholic Church, she was a regular fair worker and participated in other church activities.

Mrs. Claire was also a charter member of the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77 of Waveland in addition to being a National Democratic Executive Committee member.

Her activities were many, and her contributions to the growing City of Waveland will long be remembered by its residents.

To her husband, children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and family, we extend our sympathy.

We also say farewell to a great citizen of the City of Waveland.

The People's Business

HOLDING THE LINE IN '88

Legislative leaders seem serious about holding the line in 1988 on state government spending and tax increases.

That's good news for state taxpayers.

Mississippi is at a fiscal crossroad. There must be either a tax increase or a reduction in governmental spending and government services. Early indications are legislators may take the toughest road—the road to reduced spending and reduced services.

Legislative fiscal leaders are recommending a fiscal 1987 budget of some $70 million less than the budget for fiscal 1986. And, that's with increased expenditures for public kindergartens, additional pay increases for public school teachers, and other built-in cost expansions.

Legislators are aware that taxpayers have endured tax increases of some $235 million over the past four years, and they are aware that Mississippians, based on ability to pay, are among the most heavily burdened taxpayers in the South.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

BACK TO THE FUTURE

Congress spent its last week of the 1986 session trying to wrap up a whole year's legislative work. That seems to be a tradition of the Christmas season that we practice over and over again in Washington, and it's always accompanied by finger pointing in a search for who's to blame.

Certainly there's plenty of blame to go around for major legislation being left to be considered in the middle of the night just days prior to Christmas and for multiple spending bills to be rolled into one omnibus measure for lack of time.

If the budget process worked as it is supposed to, members of Congress would have left for home long ago and the nation would again be safe, as is often remarked throughout the halls of the Congress.

But as we approach the new year, it's more important to come "back to the future" and look at the work that lies ahead.

In 1986, the Congress will be working with a radical revision of budgeting procedures, requiring that the federal deficit be eliminated using conventional legislative means or, failing that, through unprecedented automatic spending cuts.

The Gramm-Rudman-Hollings budget measure will dramatically change the way business is done in the Congress since its supporters believe that the threat of automatic cuts will force the President, the Congress and Americans jointly to decide to spend less on the government services and subsidies now prevalent.

We also will be watching the Senate action on a House-passed "tax reform" bill. Tax reform may be its title but not its substance. As I told my colleagues on the House floor during the consideration of this bill in our body in December, it is a snake that should have been killed in its hole.

Attorney General seeks ruling on conflict of interest issue

Attorney General Ed Pittman has filed suit in Hinds County Chancery Court which asks the court to provide some guidelines for resolving questions which arise in interpreting Section 109 of the Constitution and the conflict of interest laws of the state.

Named as defendants in the suit are state Rep. Hillman Frazier and Panola County Supervisor Billy Knox. Frazier, in addition to serving in the Legislature, is a visiting lecturer in the Department of Political Science at Jackson State University. Knox is president of the State Bank of Como, which does business with Panola County.

Pittman stressed that the two defendants were not being accused of any bad intent or motive. "They have been operating under specific statutes which permit that which they are doing, but there is a state constitutional provision which seems to prohibit these same things. We think the court needs to adjudicate this constitutional-statutory conflict."

Pittman added that there is no authority, except the court, which can answer these questions. "Neither the Attorney General's opinions nor rulings from the Ethics Commission can apply or interpret the state Constitution. The defendants are serving the public good in allowing us to use them for this test case to resolve these important questions."

The Attorney General's office, the Ethics Commission, and the Legislature have discussed and debated the ethics questions without final resolution, he said. "We are at a point where we have to ask the court to resolve it."

Pittman said his office had used careful and patient consideration in deciding which state and local officeholders would be named as defendants in this first test case.

"We know that this case won't answer all the questions, but it is a beginning," he said. "We hope that the court's decision will serve as a guide for legislative action. We will take further action if we deem it necessary."

ARTHROSCOPY

Many people suffer injuries to their joints, particularly, to the knees. When conservative treatments such as rest, splinting, ice or heat don't improve the locking or slipping of the joint, or the pain and swelling, a physician's thorough evaluation often will include arthroscopy.

Arthroscopy—a combination of the Greek words "arthro", meaning joint, and "scope", meaning to look—is a procedure used to directly examine a joint with a rigid tube containing an optical system. Initially applied to the knee joint, its use has been expanded to a number of other joints, including the shoulder, elbow and ankle.

Like x-ray, arthroscopy is a diagnostic tool. Though an x-ray will provide a picture of the bone beneath the joint, it doesn't show details of the articular cartilage coating the surface of the bone, so arthroscopy is the only way a physician can evaluate the joint surface and cartilage.

Until recently, determining the extent of shoulder injuries was difficult. With arthroscopy, however, physicians can see tears of the ligaments and tissues not visible on an x-ray. This procedure has made accurate evaluation of damage to the major tendon of the shoulder joint possible.

Arthroscopy is particularly useful in determining damage to the knee after an acute injury. The injury may result from a number of causes where force is applied — an automobile accident, or sports such as football or hockey. Such an injury also could result from such sports as basketball and skiing, in which a quick maneuver could tear the cartilage.

Arthroscopy also is helpful in evaluating the wear and tear on joint surfaces, especially of the patella or knee cap, which can occur as a result of jogging.

Within the last five years, the use of arthroscopy has expanded to include surgery. In many instances, physicians are able to treat the damaged structure by introducing instruments through small incisions in the knee joint, without making a major opening in the knee joint.

They can insert a series of small knife blades, scissors, or other cutting devices to remove damaged portions of the meniscus or cartilage. A rotating burr also may be used to smooth roughened cartilage or bone. A probe, an instrument with a small hook on it, allows the physician to examine the ligaments and visualize the damage.

The use of these instruments has significantly increased the physician's ability to evaluate and treat a damaged joint.

More recently, arthroscopy has been used to repair cartilage. In general, however, this therapy is used only within the first few days of an injury, before any erosion results from continued wear and tear.

The procedure is reserved for very acute injuries in which no secondary changes have occurred.

Gov. Bill Allain

CONSTITUTION COMMISSION BEGINS DELIBERATIONS

The members of the Constitution Commission, which is charged with studying the 1890 Constitution, have been announced and are now ready to begin their work. This group, which will serve at no cost to Mississippi taxpayers, will hold its first meeting on Dec. 11 in Jackson.

I have read some press reports that criticized the fact that this commission numbers approximately 300 people. Please allow me to clarify this issue.

We selected a wide range of Mississippians to allow everyone to have a voice in this historic process. The final commission that we devised includes people from all professions, men and women, black and white, Republicans and Democrats and Independents, labor people and business people, homemakers, conservatives and liberals.

In other words, we chose the most diverse group we could find and spread the appointments geographically throughout the state. Every corner of Mississippi is represented on the commission.

Right now, as the group begins its work, there is great public support for Constitutional change. Let's keep that momentum going. Only through the most aggressive public push can we exact Constitutional change and help bring this state into the 20th Century and forward into the 21st Century, which is only 15 years away.

Many opponents to Constitutional change—fortunately, there are not too many opponents out there—say the main issue in Constitutional reform is gubernatorial succession. This is not true.

In fact, we will be pushing aggressively during the 1986 Legislative session for approval of a gubernatorial succession amendment. If the 1986 Legislature approves succession, we can allow the public to vote on this issue during the 1986 Congressional elections, at no extra cost to the state.

Such action by the Legislature in 1986 will remove the issue of gubernatorial succession from the deliberations of the Constitution Commission and allow them to focus on the many other issues included in the Constitution.

I join the members of the Constitution Commission in being very hopeful that 1986 and 1987 are years of change and progress for Mississippi. The recommendations of this Commission will play a major role in those changes.

REMEMBERING VETOES AS MONEY-SAVERS

By the time you read this column, the 1986 Legislature will have convened, and we in the Capitol will be firmly embroiled in three months of thorough examination of the money problems of this state. For several years now, the tax collections have not lived up to projections of experts, and the results have been increasing taxes in some years and cutting budgets during this year.

I am opposed to any additional tax increases on the people of Mississippi. I have said this repeatedly and I will continue to say it. Last year, I vetoed a tax increase because I felt it would hurt the people and the potential for the state of Mississippi. Since that time, this tax increase—approved by the Legislature over my veto—has not produced the kind of money that was predicted.

As a result, we have already cut some $48 million out of the state budget. During the month of December, tax collections were again down. We see no bright spot on the fiscal horizon.

In a minor way, you can help with this problem. During the 1985 Legislature, I vetoed three bills that would mean $1 million in savings to the state of Mississippi if the vetoes are upheld. The programs included in these vetoes are not priorities for the state during this financial crisis; they include $497,000 for the School of Math and Science; $300,000 for the International Ballet Competition; and $203,000 for a special legislative retirement system.

How can you help? Contact your legislator and encourage him or her to vote to sustain these vetoes. If the Legislature does not sustain these vetoes (in other words, let them stand), we'll have to go back and cut another $1 million out of some essential state programs.

The vote on the vetoes will come early in the session, so I need your help immediately. Let's work together to keep Mississippi's budget balanced and to establish state spending priorities.

Fall is last call for planting bulbs

By Jim Perry

Landscape Specialist
Cooperative Extension Service

It's last call for planting spring flowering bulbs like Narcissus, daffodils, Hyacinths, Dutch iris and tulips. In fact, my daffodils and Narcissus were planted in early October. And the planting areas are ready for Hyacinths, Dutch iris and tulips.

Dutch iris are often overlooked by gardeners. There is a wide variety in flower color and the bulbs are inexpensive. Dutch iris are very consistent performers and last many years if planted properly. I've grown them for years and always add a dozen or so each year. Dutch iris also make excellent cut flowers.

Tulips are the most spectacular spring flowering bulbs. Unfortunately, they often do not perform well in southern gardens. The main reason is that gardeners become too impatient and plant tulip bulbs too early in the fall. Warm soil temperatures cause the bulbs to sprout and begin growth. Buds and foliage are killed when freezing weather arrives in January and February.

So, for best results with tulips, buy the bulbs early and place them in cold storage in the refrigerator, but not the freezer. Gardeners in north Mississippi and central Mississippi can plant tulips from mid-December through mid-January. Gardeners in south Mississippi and Gulf Coast counties should wait until January before planting tulip bulbs.

By these dates, the soil temperature has chilled so that top growth will not begin until soils begin warming in late February and March. So, plant late and enjoy beautiful tulips.

I must remind you that success with all spring flowering bulbs depends also on choosing quality bulbs. Quality bulbs produce flowers the first season since the flower bulbs are already in the bulb. Generally, the larger the bulb the larger the bloom. Choose bulbs just as you would choose an onion for your homemade soup—large, firm and free of obvious disease and bruises.

Remember to plant bulbs in sunny areas where soil has good internal drainage. Bulbs do not perform successfully in shady areas and will rot in poorly-drained soils.

The planting depth is generally two-to-three times the height of the bulb. However, the Netherlands Bulb Institute recently changed their recommendations for planting depths of tulip bulbs.

Their research now indicates that tulips perform best when bulbs are planted eight-to-nine inches deep. This apparently assures more uniform soil temperature. In the South, this may further prevent early growth and damage of tulips. Unfortunately, many soils in Mississippi are poorly drained so be sure to have good internal soil drainage when planting tulip bulbs eight-to-nine inches deep.

Folks are always asking me for tips on how to place bulbs in the landscape. Seasonal color is most effective when coordinated with the overall landscape design.

Flowering bulbs are more spectacular when massed together. A cluster of six to 15 bulbs provides a more dramatic display than stringing the same six to 15 bulbs out in a single, long straight line. Clusters demand more attention and are excellent for accentuating doorways, entry gates, garden art, pools or other focal areas. When planted under trees, on banks or along fences, bulbs are effective in random, naturalized drifts.

Many gardeners take a handful of bulbs and fling them onto the ground in the planting area and plant them where they fall. As a result, the planting pattern is not rigid. This technique is especially popular with Narcissus and daffodils.

Don't forget to plant a few bulbs in flower pots to bring indoors in late winter. I simply plant four to six bulbs per six-inch pot, then bury the pot to the rim in the vegetable garden. As top growth begins, the pot can be dug and brought indoors to force early flowering.

PRC increases 85-86 budget

Pearl River College's Board of Trustees approved an adjusted operational budget for the 1985-86 school year during the regular December meeting here Tuesday.

The Pearl River Education and General Fund budget for the '85-86 school year was adjusted from $6,438,131 to $6,490,244, an increase of $52,113.

President Marvin R. White reported that the much publicized "short-fall" in state revenues resulted in a reduction in state appropriated funds of $50,000 for Pearl River College.

"Our enrollment was almost the same as last year," White told the board. "And that meant we did not suffer as much as most of the other junior colleges in the state."

White told the board that PRC had virtually no decrease in student enrollment for the current school year. Of the 15 junior colleges in the state, only two had enrollment increases. The River, with its less than one percent decrease, was the third best showing in the state.

"We could have lost three times as much as we did had it not been for us holding our own," White said.

However, because of the state's short-fall, the college's operational budget was adjusted by a forced 20 percent reduction in travel budgets; a freeze on all educational and office equipment purchases; and the termination of one janitor, one grounds worker and one maintenance employee as of Jan. 1.

The Education and General Fund Budget showed an increase because AT&T refunds were returned to the college and then reimbursed to the state and the liquidation of the college's Revenue Contingency Reserve of $22,076.

During the same December meeting the PRC Board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Katherine Burt and Mrs. Julie Mathis. Burt is relocating in South Carolina and Mathis is taking a maternity leave.

The board voted to employ Tommy Carney as drafting instructor at the Lamar County Center; Lucia A. Breland, part-time English instructor and Shannon Kast, part-time math instructor.

Bay St. Louis Board member James Thriffliey gave an Insurance Committee report and proposal and then the board accepted the Aetna Insurance Company of Piquette for the college property insurance of buildings and contents for one year in the amount of $56,534.

The Piquette firm had given the lowest and best bid to the board.

President White also reported to the board that the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools at the annual meeting in New Orleans last week has reaffirmed the accreditation of the college for the next 10 years.

The lowest and best bids were also accepted for electronic equipment and baseball supplies. The November Claim Docket of $495,915 was also approved.

PRC board members in attendance included Jack Stewart, chairman; Pate Lumpkin, secretary; Frank Fortenberry, Kathryn Moody, Everette Eaton, Jerry Burge, James Thriffliey, Emil Pav, Edmond Mitchell, Walter Cartier, Tom Blakeney, Charles Speed and Macon Holliman.

Teachers group distributing material on King's life

The Mississippi American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, is distributing educational material on the life of Dr. Martin Luther King to help teachers and other interested persons in preparation for the national holiday, Jan. 20, honoring the civil rights leader. The information may also be used during February, Black History Month.

The material includes lesson plans on the life, times and thoughts of Dr. King. The lesson plans for both elementary and secondary levels are complete with goals, procedures and background information. In addition there are bibliographies for children and adults and a chronology chart of important events. Also included in the packet are copies of "Letter from Birmingham Jail" and "I Have a Dream."

The materials, which are being distributed free of charge, may be obtained by sending a large stamped (44 cents) self-addressed envelope to Mississippi American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, King Education Material, P. O. Box 6427, Biloxi, MS 39532.

Quality junior high education essential to high school success

Raising teacher salaries by a minimum of 25 percent, changing the focus of schools to recognize academic achievement, and giving students a chance to explore their future world are among recommendations released recently to improve education between the fifth and ninth grades.

'An Agenda for Excellence at the Middle Level,' the first national report on middle level schools, was prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals' Council on Middle Level Education.

The report calls for emphasis in 12 areas: the school's culture and climate, student development, curriculum, learning and instruction, school organization, technology, teachers, transition, principals, connections, core values, and client centeredness.

'Middle level schools, which have a special place in American education, have special missions that require cultivation and serious attention if they are to help young adolescents reach their development,' said J. Howard Johnston, primary author of the report.

'America has focused its attention on high schools for more than two years. The simple fact is, however, that if students are messed up by the time they get to high school, it is unlikely they can succeed there.'

'The young people who leave the middle level schools of the '80s will enter careers, raise families, and seek the satisfaction that life will offer in the third millennium,' Johnston said. 'We cannot even begin to know what information they will need to successfully negotiate that world.'

The report suggests that students should not be forced into a totally specified curriculum, but should be given the chance to experiment with many courses.

It calls for schools to 'recognize that the young adolescent is interested in 'virtually everything, but nothing very much,' by providing adequate exploratory programs that introduce students to a variety of topics, skills, and content fields without requiring mastery. This can be accomplished through a series of short courses or elective units that give the student some sense of control over the kind of learning he or she undertakes.'

The report calls for an instructional program that challenges all students at their ability levels—that 'does not frustrate the less able learner or bore the most able learner.'

Frequent homework should be given, but it should be carefully evaluated by teachers.

'To be effective, homework should be coordinated among teachers, related to the goals of the class and the specific topic under study, and should not be given simply to provide additional drill time,' the report recommends.

'Instead, it should require thought, reasonable intellectual effort, the competent demonstration of learned skills, and the acquisition of new knowledge. It should be appropriate in terms of both quantity and quality. The student should receive specific and regular feedback on homework assignments.'

We must encourage good teachers to remain in the profession, and one step to do this is to raise all teacher salaries by a minimum of 25 percent, according to Johnston.

Teachers should not be assigned noninstructional duties, teacher education should include the study of adolescent development, and exceptional teachers must be rewarded.

The 'culture' of the middle level school is crucial to school improvement and may have to change. The report calls for the recognition and reward of 'academic improvement and may have to change. The report calls for the recognition and reward of 'academic performance at a level commensurate with other reward systems, such as those for athletics and artistic performance.'

There should be opportunities for students and teachers to socialize informally, outside the classroom, and students should be able to achieve in a number of areas such as the arts, athletics, academics and crafts.

Cost feared reason for low use of new Meningitis vaccine

Health officials fear that cost of the new Hemophilus influenza b vaccination may be preventing many Mississippi children from getting protection against the most common and potentially fatal form of meningitis.

The Mississippi State Department of Health's Fiscal Year 1986 budget does not include money to buy the vaccine and provide it free of charge.

The Medicaid Commission financed purchase of enough doses for free immunization of Medicaid children, but non-Medicaid recipients must pay $8 per dose to cover the cost of the vaccine and its administration.

"We sent 10,350 doses to the 82 county health departments in late October," reported Kenneth Laliberte, director of the State Department of Health immunization program. "So far, use has been extremely low. Our nurses have given only 700 to 800 doses - and that's if we're lucky."

Health officials, including the American Academy of Pediatrics, recommend all children be immunized against Hemophilus influenza b meningitis at age two.

Children between 18 months and five years of age who attend day care centers or are "high risk" - those who have a chronic disease, problems with their physical immune system such as sickle-cell anemia or leukemia, or have undergone kidney transplants - also should get the vaccine.

Health experts do not recommend vaccination for children younger than 18 months or older than five years.

Despite its name, Hemophilus influenza b vaccine is not a flu vaccine. It is a vaccine against a type of meningitis which infects the covering of the spinal cord and the brain.

"Bacterial meningitis in children is often fatal, and when it is not, it often causes serious neurological damage," said Dr. Ed Thompson, state epidemiologist.

Nationally, about five percent of those children who get Hemophilus influenza b meningitis die from the disease; about 25 percent of those who survive suffer permanent brain damage.

In 1984, Mississippi physicians reported 175 cases of meningitis - 59 of which were Hemophilus influenza b meningitis. Four Hemophilus influenza b victims died.

The state epidemiologist received 224 reports of meningitis during 1985, including 91 cases of Hemophilus influenza b. The 1985 meningitis death rate has not yet been tabulated.

The State Department of Health is asking the State Legislature to appropriate funds in FY 1987 for purchase and free or reduced-cost distribution of the Hemophilus influenza b vaccine.

County health departments already provide free immunizations against vaccine-preventable diseases to 80 percent of the state's children. With most other children receiving vaccinations at private physicians' and other clinics, Mississippi boasts one of the nation's highest childhood immunization levels.

Space.....

prevent kindergarten students from having to use the same restrooms as seventh and eighth graders in the same building.

Measurements will be taken to determine which rooms at Hancock North Central Elementary and Gulfview Elementary meet state specifications. Older children may have to be moved to other rooms or to trailers to provide kindergarten space, he added.

Randolph said the district is expecting about 210 students, who must be divided into classes that will number no more than 22 per teacher or no more than 24 where the teacher is assisted by an aide.

One class is expected at the Pearl-ington school with the rest expected to attend Hancock North Central or Gulfview.

Terrell said that the additional students will require the district to add about three more buses, and Randolph said cafeteria schedules will have to be modified at the two larger schools in order to keep kindergartners from mingling with older students.

Kindergarten students will attend a full day of school so that the district may maintain its present bus schedule, but about three buses will have to be added.

"The 210 is only a preliminary estimate. Our biggest problem is going to be identifying how many students we will have and which schools they will attend," Terrell commented.

He asked that anyone with a child who will be five years old by Sept. 1 and eligible to attend kindergarten contact the principal of the school that child will attend.

In addition, the district is preparing an information brochure on

Don't be a heartbreaker

American Heart Association
WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

kindergarten and has scheduled registration in January and March.

Terrell is also working with a consultant, Paula Trisch, on a list of supplies that must be obtained.

The district will have to pay for part of the cost of implementing kindergarten because the state is supplying only $6,000 for supplies, about enough for three classes, and about $1,100 in funds per student.

In addition, Terrell and Trisch are working on scheduling of daily activities for kindergarten students.

In other business Saturday, the board held a hearing for Paul Ladner, a maintenance employee at Hancock North Central.

The hearing was held at Ladner's request to correct an error in his pay, which Ladner alleged had occurred when Randolph failed to pay him for two days of work following Hurricane Elena.

Coast growth predicted

Population growth and expected economic improvement were predicted for 1986 by Lucian Gilbert, chairman of the Gulf Coast Chapter of the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE).

In an address at the chapter's annual awards banquet, he stated that, "With the development of new businesses and the expansion of existing businesses, there will be an increased need for counseling during the upcoming year."

"Today's entrepreneur," said Gilbert, "is better educated and more knowledgeable than those of yesterday."

He further observed that most new businesses are in the service area, rather than retail, and are more often operated by women.

Gilbert, the new chairman of this group of retired volunteer counselors, introduced other new officers for 1985-86: Walter "Dick" Cosby of Diamondhead, vice chairman; Mildred Buerkle of Diamondhead, recording secretary; and Sid Wogan, treasurer.

The group welcomed new member Greg Perry of Diamondhead.

SCORE is interested in recruiting retired business people or other professionals willing to provide volunteer counseling to small business.

Persons interested should contact SCORE at the SBA office - 863-4449.

In addition, executives still in business with time to help the small business community may join a SCORE section called ACE (Active Corps of Executives).

Gex said a public hearing on the ordinance is not required, but members of both boards said they feel the public should be involved.

Gex said he hopes to have some response from the Board of Health and Bureau of Pollution Control to present at the next board meeting on Feb. 5.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club

The general meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club was held at 2 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 9 at the Garden Center on Leonhard Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. W. P. Hilliker spoke on the different measurements of time through the ages, and gave an original devotion with the New Year as the theme.

Mrs. Edwin G. Larroux, second vice president, introduced Mrs. Rene deMontluzin who gave a slide presentation and talk on "Flowers Survive Amidst Ancient Civilization in Greece, Turkey and Italy," based on her recent travels in those areas.

Mrs. Van Schultz spoke on winter birds which can be seen in this area at the present time, and mentioned the American goldfinch, pine siskin, red-breasted nuthatch, purple finch, white-throated sparrow, dark-eyed junco, tufted titmouse, Carolina chickadee, and perhaps even an evening grosbeak.

She recommended black oil sunflower seed and thistle seed be used in bird feeders during the winter months, but not to mix the two in the same feeder.

Mrs. Raymond A. Russell gave an outline of a birding field trip to be held on Jan. 30, or in the event of inclement weather on Jan. 31.

The Garden of the Month award in Waveland was given to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Karger, 134 Lakewood Drive, and in Bay St. Louis to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Frey, 908 South Beach Boulevard.

Members were asked to participate in the cleaning of the beaches in Hancock County on Feb. 22, which has been declared "Hancock County Clean Our Beach Day."

Mrs. A. C. Smith, chairman, introduced the hostesses who served refreshments following the meeting: Mrs. A. S. Klempeter, Mrs. Richard Hughes, Mrs. A. G. Dantagnan, Mrs. Edmond Fahey, Mrs. J. R. Griffin, Mrs. Clarence Evans, Mrs. H. D. Warner, and Mrs. Kenneth McKenna.

American Legion Auxiliary 77

The American Legion Post No. 77 and the American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 77 of Waveland gave a Christmas party to some special children at North Bay Elementary School. Donations of money, fruit, cakes, novelties, fruit punch and cookies were greatly appreciated. Persons to thank for donations are Betty LaFontaine, Phil Lagasse, Helen Rohrbacker, Jimmy Lagasse, Jo Ann Lagasse, the American Legion Post No. 77 and the Auxiliary Unit No. 77 who matched funds for the gifts for Santa to give each child.

Pere Cabibi treated the children by being the jolly Santa Claus. A big cheer of joy from the children was heard loud and clear when Santa appeared, and there were big smiles on all 18 faces.

An activity is planned for the children each month.

Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs

The nominating committee of the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs met on Jan. 3 at 10 a.m. at the Harrison County Library.

A slate of new officers was prepared to replace those whose two-year term will expire in May.

The following officers were nominated: second vice president, Mrs. Kenneth Ernst; fourth vice president, Mrs. H. D. Bustetter; treasurer, Mrs. John Brooks; parliamentarian, Mrs. John J. Drevar.

Plans were discussed for Arbor Day celebration to be held Feb. 15 at Beauvoir. It was suggested that each garden club belonging to the council donate a tree to be planted on the grounds at Beauvoir.

The Feb. 7 meeting will be held at the Long Beach Garden Center.

Diamondhead Academy names administrator, schedules registration

Mrs. Pat Zatarain of Pass Christian is new administrator of Diamondhead Academy.

Zatarain holds a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education from Tulane University and a master's degree in elementary and secondary supervision and administration from Loyola University in New Orleans.

She taught in Jefferson and Orleans Parish before moving to Mississippi.

She has served as teacher and principal at Christ Episcopal Day School in Bay St. Louis, and recently she served as principal in the Pass Christian school system.

"Over the years Mrs. Zatarain has received many awards and commendations for her contributions to the schools she has served, and the staff and parents of Diamondhead Academy are looking forward to working with her," said Brierley Acker, PTO president.

The academy will conduct open registration for new students for the 1986-87 fall term beginning Monday.

For more information call the school office at 255-1784.

Main Street United Methodist Church of Bay St. Louis was the setting on Sunday, December 22, for the wedding of Rebecca Jane Montgomery and Edward Campbell Hinnant, both of Bay St. Louis.

The Rev. Curtis Moffat officiated the afternoon ceremony. Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Paul Smith, organist, and Mary Howard, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. William M. Montgomery of Long Beach. Parents of the groom are Lt. Col. and Mrs. Edwin A. Watson of West Point and the late George L. Hinnant.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight satin. It was designed with a bodice overlaid with embroidered lace. The full skirt extended to a chapel-length train. She carried a cascade of silk roses, seed pearls, small, white poinsettias, and baby's breath, accented with satin ribbons tied in love knots. She wore a wreath of silk flowers that held a veil of illusion.

Anne Johnson Culpepper of Jackson attended the bride as matron of honor.

Other attendants were Megan P. Brown of New York City; Donna M. Teigtmeier of New Orleans, La.; Lois C. Montgomery of Ft. Worth, Texas, all sisters of the bride, and Susan W. Elchos of Bay St. Louis.

Katlyn Brown, the bride's niece, was flower girl, and Daniel Teigtmeier, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

George L. Hinnant Jr. of West Point, Miss., served his brother as best man.

Groomsmen were the bride's brother, William M. Montgomery Jr. of Long Beach, the groom's cousin, Chuck Cliett of Houston, Tex.; David Lott of West Point; Kent Atkins of Orlando, Fla., and Mark Bean of Ocean Springs.

A reception at the Landmark Restaurant in Bay St. Louis followed the ceremony.

After a honeymoon cruise in the Bahamas, the couple will make their home in Bay St. Louis.

Hinnant-Montgomery

Dorsey-Dedeaux

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert J. Dorsey Sr. of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Melissa Marie Dorsey, to Ricardo Lee Dedeaux, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Dedeaux Sr. of Pass Christian.

The bride-elect is a 1984 graduate of Bay Senior High School. She attended Phillips College in Gulfport and is employed with Pass Christian

The prospective groom is a 1982 graduate of Pass Christian High School. He is employed with Pass Christian Isles Golf Club.

St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church will be the setting for the February 8 marriage at 2 p.m., with reception following in the school cafeteria. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

MR. AND MRS. TRUMAN WARREN FAIRLEY JR.

Fairley-Beaugez

Main Street United Methodist Church was the setting for the December 14 marriage of Marguerite Therese Beaugez of Bay St. Louis and Truman Fairley Jr. of Baker, La. The Rev. Curtis Moffat officiated at the 3:30 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Marie Beaugez of Bay St. Louis and the late Gerald Beaugez Sr. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Truman Fairley Sr. of Baker.

Red poinsettias and palms decorated the altar, while Christmas greenery and red velvet bows adorned the church.

Nuptial music was presented by organist Jean Smith and soloist Sandra Rhodes, both of Bay St. Louis.

Escorted to the altar by John Mason, the bride wore a tea length gown of embroidered lace over bridal satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and standup collar, shirred illusion net front and back yokes enhanced with embroidered lace appliques. Her sleeves were three-quarter length and were of embroidered lace, and the flared skirt was sashed at the waist with a satin ribbon.

The bride carried a cascade of orchids and ivy with ivory rosebuds.

Patricia Ladner of Waveland was matron of honor. She wore a tea length dress of royal blue taffeta with V-neckline, surplus front bodice and puffed sleeves. The full skirt featured a self sash. She carried a nosegay of ivory rosebuds.

Michael Mackey of Baton Rouge, La. was best man.

Gerald Beaugez Jr. of Bay St. Louis, brother of the bride, was usher.

A reception followed the ceremony at Virginia Hall. Decorations included two large arrangements of mums and carnations, with several Christmas arrangements placed throughout the hall. The bride's table held a three tiered wedding cake flanked by silver candelabra belonging to the bride's great-grandmother.

Assisting at the reception were Rose Marie Ginn of Bay St. Louis, sister of the bride; Christine Chiniche and Linda Sandoz of Bay St. Louis, and Josie Sandoz of Long Beach, aunts of the bride.

On return from a wedding trip to Breckenridge, Colo., the couple resides in Baton Rouge.

LET'S GO TO MARKET

The holiday season is also the height of the citrus season. Look for fruit that is firm and heavy for its size. Refrigerate until ready to use to prevent skins drying and loss of juice.

The following varieties of citrus are now available:

Navel oranges are deep yellow color, extra large fruit. They peel and section easily. Best supply: November to January.

Hamlin is smooth surface and medium size. It's an excellent juice orange. Best supply: October to December.

Temple oranges are small with deep orange color. They peel easily. Best supply: January to March.

Tangelo is a large citrus. A cross between tangerine and grapefruit. Deep orange in color. Best supply: December to March.

Tangerine is small or medium fruit, easy to peel and deeply colored. It has a rich sweet flavor. Best supply: November to February. Marsh Seedless Grapefruit has smooth yellow skin and is medium size, usually flattened on each end. Contains less than eight seeds. Best supply: November to June.

Pink Seedless Grapefruit is similar to Marsh Seedless Grapefruit except that the meat of the fruit has a pink or reddish tint. Best supply: October to May.

To keep energy up and weight down try these tricks: A half grapefruit is a quick snack that provides energy to carry you through an afternoon of shopping.

Adopt an either/or principle at the beginning of each meal. Choose between a drink or an appetizer, an appetizer or a dessert, a dessert or a slice of bread.

Use orange or grapefruit juice as the base for holiday punches. Four ounces of orange juice has approximately 60 calories, while four ounces of non-alcoholic eggnog has 170 calories.

When your favorite food is served at a meal, enjoy it first; it will be easier to stop eating.

Fresh oranges, tangerines, and grapefruit make a wonderfully light and refreshing dessert after a heavy holiday meal. Citrus is high in nutrients and has a sweet taste without many calories.

Sip orange juice and club soda while cooking. This is a good way to avoid nibbling and tasting before serving.

When your energy lags in the late afternoon, pick yourself up with a juicy orange or tangerine. Fruit contains three different natural sugars: Sucrose and glucose which act quickly to raise the blood sugar, and slower acting fructose. Together, these natural sugars make fruit an ideal energy-giving snack.

The refined sugars in hard candy or chocolate are effective, but temporary sources of quick energy. Refined sugar is rapidly absorbed into the body causing a surge of non-lasting energy. The level of blood sugar then declines just as rapidly, producing an energy slump.

When using citrus, remember that room temperature fruit yields the most juice, especially when it is rolled on the counter before squeezing. Grate extra citrus peel and freeze in sealed plastic bags. Use as you would fresh grated peel. Save citrus shells after juicing; freeze and use later as serving containers for sauces, salads, and desserts.

The flavedo or outer colored peel of citrus has tiny oil sacs that are full of subtle and distinctive flavor. When the peel is grated and used in lieu of synthetic citrus flavorings, you get a fresh-as-fruit taste.

The albedo or white portion of citrus peel contains valuable nutrients. No need to worry about eating the albedo. It contains fiber and aids the digestive system and causes jellies and jams to jell. That's why fresh citrus peel is often called for in jelly and jam making.

It seems there's never enough time to do everything. Often, everyday meal planning and shopping go astray. There is no magic formula to solve this dilemma but a few helpful suggestions can make it easier to prepare quick and easy meals with less work and energy.

You must be well organized in your plans and have a sound knowledge of meal planning, cooking principles and food values. Having the ability to prepare simple, nourishing and interesting meals in limited time takes skill and imagination. Good organization is perhaps the most important key to time-saving meal preparation.

Advance planning and not fast footwork is the secret to cutting down kitchen time, yet serving really good meals—not just casual snacks.

Allow yourself time to plan. Have a well-organized, convenient place to do your planning with paper, pencils, recipe file, cookbook and the basic food chart. Collect time-saving menus, recipe file, cookbook and the basic food chart. Collect time-saving menus, recipes and ideas. Save recipes and menus that you have found to be timesavers.

As you plan, ask yourself, "Just what do I want to do? Cut preparation time? Spend less time on last-minute preparation? Spend less time in serving the meal? Or is it to spend less time in clean-up?"

Basic rules of menu planning apply whether it is a quick meal or your "Sunday Special." In trying to cut down on time, make sure you do not cut down on good standards of nutrition, attractiveness and appetite appeal.

A market list should be part of your planning. Know what food supplies are on hand—in the freezer, in the refrigerator and on the shelves.

It helps to keep a record of what you put in and take out of your freezer and to group similar foods together so you know exactly where to find certain foods.

Some homemakers like to package together foods for an entire meal. Arranging canned food according to kind on the shelves enables you to know at a glance what's on hand.

Shopping once or twice a month saves time, money and energy. Foods listed in the order that they are found on the grocery shelves speeds shopping.

Once you make plans, your next step is to use them. If you find they don't work out, change them so they will.

Time-saving meals include several types. If your family likes simple meals, food and mixtures and is willing to try new ventures into eating, there are endless possibilities in the main-dish meal. Many of the foods needed for good nutrition may be combined in one dish that is appetizing and good to eat.

Main dishes that you can prepare ahead and freeze include: cooked meat and poultry, stews, meat or poultry pies, meat loaves, chile con carne, meatballs in sauce, stuffed peppers, various casserole dishes, and creamed meat, poultry and fish. Cool the food quickly, then package and freeze it at once.

Oven meals are easy to prepare and do not demand your close attention while cooking. You can prepare a complete meal in your oven, except salad and beverage, if you plan carefully. Select foods that require about the same baking temperature.

At 375 degrees Fahrenheit, for example, you can bake meat loaf, potatoes (they will require 10 to 20 minutes longer than at 425 degrees Fahrenheit), tomatoes and apples. When the meat loaf comes out of the oven, boost the temperature to 400 degrees Fahrenheit and put in a pan of muffins. Make a salad and a beverage, and dinner is ready.

While planning, a broiler meal can be the answer to the meal at 5:30 p.m. when you enter the kitchen at 5 p.m. Broiler meals need more watching than oven meals, but the cooking time is shorter. They also simplify dishwashing because you can cook the whole meal in one pan.

When you have a freezer, you can keep on hand a supply of prepared foods that need only to be thawed or heated before serving. You can save time by preparing two or three times the amount you need for one meal and freezing the extra amount.

Hancock responds to Lung appeals

Widespread and generous support given by residents of Hancock County to the 1985 Christmas Seal campaign is a "true community project," said Mrs. Elda Duke of Waveland, chairman of the Hancock County Chapter, Mississippi Lung Association.

Contributions are still being received and are vitally needed to support year-round Christmas Seal programs of life and breath.

"You are urged to send your Christmas Seal gift, if you have not already done so, and help our local lung chapter in the Mississippi Lung Association fight lung disease," Duke said.

"Your Hancock County Lung Chapter is one of 86 county and bi-county lung chapters in Mississippi. Each chapter conducts education, patient service and other programs to bring a unified effort against emphysema, asthma, lung cancer, chronic bronchitis, tuberculosis, other lung diseases and all lung health hazards," Duke said.

"MLA programs are designed to prevent and control lung diseases, to assist those who suffer with lung problems and to further medical education and research."

"We thank citizens of Hancock County for your concern and support. Your contribution enables the Mississippi Christmas Seal voluntary health organization to continue and expand vital services and programs. Lung health and clean air are indeed matters of life and breath."

Contributions may still be sent to Christmas Seals, P.O. Box 9865, Jackson, MS 39206. Each gift is credited to the local chapter and remains in Mississippi to serve Mississippians of all ages.

PBS withdraws "Lilias, Yoga and You" from schedule

The popular morning exercise program, "Lilias, Yoga and You" was withdrawn from the national schedule at the end of 1985 after enough stations failed to vote for its continuation.

Late last year, the Public Broadcasting Service polled affiliate stations around the country on whether they would like to continue receiving the program.

While WYES-TV/12 was one of about 30 stations voting for the show's continuation, 80 such stations were required to insure the program would be renewed in 1986.

Lilias Folan, host of the series, is currently planning a new program that will deal with health and exercise, with an holistic emphasis. The new series will include extensive use of guest experts and will address topics such as nutrition, exercise, relaxation and a variety of similar topics. No release date for the series has been announced.

24-HOUR EMERGENCY CARE

When accidents happen or illness strikes, the need for prompt, expert medical care can be critical.

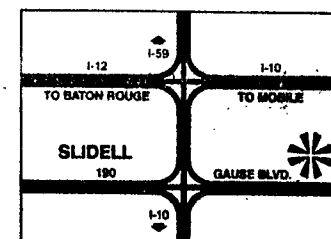

Now you can have peace of mind, knowing that 24-hour emergency care is only minutes away. NorthShore Regional Medical Center offers complete round-the-clock emergency medical services:

- The only ambulance service on the North Shore with 24-hour coverage by national registered paramedics, from the emergency site to the hospital. Registered paramedics are specialists in recognizing and responding to life-threatening crises.
- A highly skilled, caring emergency and trauma staff, backed by our medical staff of leading area physicians.
- State-of-the-art equipment in ambulances and the Emergency Room.

Another advantage: tiered-pricing

Tiered-pricing means that you pay only for the degree of care you require. Unlike most hospitals, NorthShore does not charge a flat fee for Emergency Room admissions. In other words, a sore throat doesn't cost you as much as a serious fracture.

For yourself and your loved ones, remember NorthShore's 24-Hour Emergency Care Ambulance Service: 646-5050. Outside Louisiana, call toll-free: 1-800-344-6695.

1 mile south of the I-10, I-12 and I-59 intersection. Adjacent to the Gause Blvd. (190) exit, east of I-10.

Hancock Insurance Agency

January 9, 1986

Dear Customer,

As 1986 begins, I want to wish you a Happy New Year and thank you for trusting your insurance needs to us at Hancock Insurance Agency.

1985 was a difficult year for many of you and your neighbors. Hurricanes swept our coast twice with devastating winds and water. Damage to property, homes and businesses was serious in many cases. I thank you for your patience during those trying times.

I hope that as a member of the Hancock Insurance Agency family you will continue to place your confidence in us during 1986. We look forward to helping you with any of your insurance needs, be it for health, auto, home or business. Either of our two convenient locations will serve you: downtown at 114 Main Street and on the highway at Shieldsboro Square.

May 1986 bring you and all of us in Hancock County prosperity, good health and no hurricanes.

Sincerely,

Rick Eagan

Public seminar on Aids scheduled on JD campus

An educational program open to the general public entitled "Aids, How Safe Are You?" will be presented Tuesday, Jan. 14, at 7 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium of the Jefferson Davis Campus of Gulf Coast Junior College.

The panel consists of Dr. F. E. Thompson Jr., deputy chief of the Bureau of Personal Health Services and epidemiologist at the Mississippi Department of Health; Dr. H.E. Wood, internal medicine specialist; and Dr. Edward Rehak, pathologist and director of the clinical laboratory at Gulf Coast Community Hospital.

They will provide participants with information about the disease, separating the facts from the fiction and attempt to dispel unfounded fears that are associated with Aids.

Dr. Thompson, who received his medical degree from the University School of Medicine in Jackson, is also an assistant professor of preventative medicine at the University School of Medicine.

He received his master's degree in public health from the John Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health.

As the key speaker, he will discuss "Where Aids Came From," "Who Is at Risk to Contract Aids," "How Is It Transmitted," and "How to Protect Yourself."

Dr. Rehak graduated cum laude from Georgetown University School of Medicine in Washington, D.C.

Certified in anatomical and clinical pathology, he has held many eminent positions in his medical career and has authored several scholastic papers. Dr. Rehak's presentation will concern the "Diagnosis and Treatment of The Aids Client."

Following the third speaker (name withheld) who will give a personal account of a family member stricken with Aids, Dr. H.E. Wood, moderator for the seminar, will conduct an open forum for questions and answers from the audience to the panel.

Dr. Wood received his medical degree from the Louisiana State University School of Medicine in Shreveport, La., and is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine.

This seminar is the first of its kind to be held for the general public on the Gulf Coast.

Anyone who wishes to learn more about the disease should attend.

Nursing personnel in attendance are eligible for two and one-half contact hours of credit.

Handout material will be available at the doors of the Fine Arts Auditorium.

Consumer Update

By Janet K. Lukens
Coast Consumer
Management Center

Managing in '86

With the economy continuing to grow, most people feel pretty good about their financial situation. Inflation will continue to be moderate around four to five percent and, if salary increases keep up, people will be in a position to spend a little more or hopefully save more.

However, consumer installment debt as a percentage of disposable personal income is at an all-time high of 19 percent. The positive economic outlook could be less bright for those with credit worries. If credit has been a problem, then a resolve not to let credit rule is needed. Before purchasing with credit, ask yourself these questions:

—How will the payment fit into my regular spending plan? If the fit is snug, don't make the purchase.

—How will the credit cost when compared to the cash price? It may be best to save enough to buy outright.

—Will I want this as much when I'm making payments as I do now? Few things really meet this test.

—How will this purchase improve family living? If it will save time or protect health or increase income then it has merit.

—Is the income I have certain for the length of time I'll make payments? If there is a question about income instability, waiting pays great dividends.

—Will it outlast the payments? Meals already eaten and toys already broken often cause resentment.

—Will I have to do without something to make the payment?

Develop a savings plan even when you have credit payments. Savings help you pay for future needs with cash, not credit. Saving regularly by "pay yourself first" is a good habit to form early in the year. Direct payments or bank drafts make it easy so you don't have to handle the money and be tempted to spend it rather than save it.

Knowing your starting point and your destination are essential to good money management in 1986. Start with a list of goals, a current cash flow analysis of where the money is going. If money is slipping away that is needed for future goals, adjust your lifestyle as needed for day-to-day expenses and future goals to be covered. If you need help developing a budget for 1986, please contact the Money Management Center in Biloxi at 388-4710. Or call your local county extension office.

ETV Brief

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

The 1986 season of the "National Geographic Specials" begins with a visit to Chesapeake Bay in "Chesapeake Borne" at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 15, on Mississippi ETV.

From rugged watermen to dedicated ecologists, from champion crab pickers to entrants in the Miss Crustacean beauty pageant, the people of the Chesapeake Bay are a hardy breed.

For many, life on the Chesapeake centers around the Atlantic blue crab. Much of the Bay's bounty is processed in Crisfield, Md., self-proclaimed "crab capital of the world."

Crisfield is the site of a unique, American, end-of-summer ritual: the annual Hard Crab Derby. Viewers will witness the traditional derby events: the crab-picking contest; a workboat docking contest; the Miss Crustacean beauty pageant; and the weekend's namesake event, the Hard Crab Derby itself.

Underwriting for the broadcast of "Chesapeake Borne" in Mississippi is provided by DeMiller, Denny, Word & Company, certified public accountants in Jackson.

ETV Brief

FARM MEETINGS

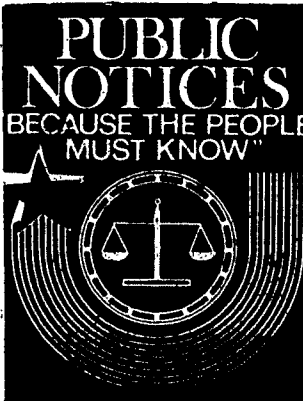

"Farmweek" reporters will sum up news from three farm-related meetings held in Mississippi in January in a program to air at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Jan. 20, on Mississippi ETV.

Peach growing tips will be highlighted in the review of the state peach growers' meeting held Jan. 16 at the Extension Center, Mississippi State University.

A report on "soybean day," held Jan. 10 in Greenwood, will shed some light on how the recent Farm Bill may affect 1986 soybean prices and production in Mississippi.

"Farmweek" reporters will also review pointers on pork production and feeding efficiency gleaned from the pork producers' meeting held Jan. 16 and 17 in Jackson.

Also included on the program will be current prices, market analyses, local and national agriculture news, feature reports, a calendar of upcoming events, specific advice for farmers and weather forecasts for the upcoming week. The series is co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

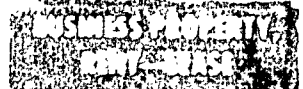

PUBLIC NOTICES BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW
NOTICE TO BIDDERS
The City of Bay St. Louis will be accepting bids for various property cleanups until 4:00 p.m. January 20, 1986 at the City Hall in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.
Bids should be delivered to the City Clerk's Office at City Hall. Bids should include cleaning as well as removal of debris. Bidders should contact City Hall for location of the properties to be cleaned.
The city reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any informalities in the bidding process. Bids may be held by the City for a period not to exceed 30 days from the date of receipt for reviewing of bids and qualifications of bidders.
For further information call the City Clerk's Office at 467-4006.
